

Slavery after Abolitionism?

Temporalities, (Im)Mobility and Labor in Global Perspective

2 May 2024

Department Culture, Politics and Society room 3D233 and online

10.45 am Introductory Remarks - Federica Morelli (University of Turin)

11.00 am Benedetta Rossi (UCL, London)
Citizenship, Work, and Race in Africa, 1940s-1960s

11.30 am Christine Molfenter (Independent Researcher)
"Slavery Is a Condition Which Admits of Degrees" – Colonial Justice and the Conundrum of Bonded Labor in India

12.00 pm Debate

12.45 pm Lunch

2.00 pm Elena Barattini (University of Turin)
Working along the Cuban Patronato: (Formerly) Enslaved Women between Coercion and Resistance

2.30 pm Francesca Declich (Urbino University)
Reframing Coercive Labour after Abolition in Somalia

3.00 pm Debate

3.45 pm Gabriele Montalbano (Bologna University)
Emancipation Trajectories in Late and Post-Ottoman Libya between Abolitionism, Colonialism and Solidarity (1890s-1930s)

4.15 pm Nico Pizzolato (Middlesex University, London)
"The Logics of Debt: Rethinking Im/mobility, Coercion and Autonomy in the Long Wake of Slavery"

4.45 pm Debate and Conclusion - Silvia Bruzzi (University of Turin)